SOUP SEASON

Winter is nearly upon us and that means we are again craving warming meals on cold days. And what could be better than a steaming bowl of hot soup? It is not only a delicious winter tradition, but also a timeless favorite that offers endless possibilities for variation. After many years of eating tomato and pumpkin soups, we are now seeing a rise in Asian flavors. So, why not surprise your guests with a warming dumpling soup that is also filling thanks to the gyoza?

SPICY DUMPLING SOUP WITH GYOZA

It's time for soup! With a steaming bowl like this one, filled with our chicken or vegetarian gyoza, you're guaranteed to really surprise your guests. The shiitake mushrooms give the soup depth while the stir-fried bok choy and julienned carrot offer a real flavor explosion. For extra crunch and flavor, garnish the soup with fresh spring onion, a dash of black sesame seeds and the popular crispy chili oil. If you're looking for a way to help your guests beat the winter chill, this soup is the perfect solution!
